HYDROAEROPLANE NOT STARTED TODAY

Flight Postponed Until Slight Changes Are Made in Machinery

NAVAL EXPERTS HERE,

If Machine is a Success, Company Will Manufacture Large Number at Old Pioneer Mills.

No attempt was made today to fly the big Richardson hydro-aeroplane, the largest machine of the kind ever constructed, which lies in the water in front of the old Pioneer Mills, at the foot of Duke street.

Hundreds of Alexandrians who had expected to witness the first flight gathered on the wharves and river front at an early hour this morning but were disappointed, as the machine was not even started. Machinists were busy working on the engines and representatives of the navy department of Washington went over the mechanism. At their suggestion certain changes were made, and shortly after 11 o'clock, A. S. Richardson, of Lowell, Mass., the builder of the machine, stated that there would be no attempts to fly today. He said that the engines would in all probability be given a try out late this afternoon, but that no attempt would be made to use the ascending planes to take the ship from the surface of the water.

The navy department was represented today by Lieut. Commander F. R. McCreery, of the Washington navy yard, and Lieut. H. C. Richardson, of the United States Navy.

It was announced that if the machine was successful in carrying out the hopes of the inventor, the invention would first be offered to the United States government, and in case it was accepted, work would be immediately started on the construction of a large number of the machines. A company has been organized to be known as the Spanish-American Trading Comapny, which will build the machines. The capital has all been subscribed and the plant for the manufacture of the machines will be located in Alexandria, an option having been secured on the old Pioneer Mills, which was reconstructed into a modern factory building by the Emerson Engine Company. The buliding is admirably fitted for the purpose for which it would be used by the new company.

Among those interested in the company is Leon Rasst, who is connected with the Russian Embassy in Washington. Mr. Rasst was for 19 years the Russian consul at Puebla, Mexico. Anotehr interested spectator at today's inspection was Miss Alice Jewell Benton, of Washington.

LOVERS WOUND FATAL

Samuel Wise Who Shot Miss Rifkin, Expires.

Baltimore, June 18—Samuel Wise, 18 years old, of 19 North Eden street who shot Miss Sophie Rifkin, 16 years old, 151 North High street, shortly before midnight Wednesday and then shot himself in the right temple, died yesterday at Mercy Hospital.

That he was in love with the girl whom he wanted to marry, and that she repulsed him was the substance of a letter he had written before committing the act.

"I done this to satisfy myself," he wrote, "because I loved her and couldn't see her go wth another fellow; but I'm postive that she loved me and no other, but she never showed it. She wouldn't give me the satisfaction and kept on teasing me all the time. I wanted her to be my wife. So therefore I ended it all."

CARDINALS VS. BRADDOCKS

Good Baseball Game to be Played Sunday at Cardinal Park

The strong Braddock A. C. team will play the Cardinals in the home team's new grounds next Sunday, June 20, at 2:30 p. m. The visitors are popular in this city, and are rated as a first class bunch of ball players and are coming here to defeat the local lads, if possible.

Capt. Dug Merchant, of the Cardinals, will have the same line up as last Sunday, who, until the rain storm broke up the game, were playing a great game against the crack Anacostia ball team, the score being 3 to 0 in the Cardinals favor.

The outfield in the Cardinal A. Baseball Park has been filled in and graded duringf the past week and seats will be erected along the first and third base lines if the fans will attend the games and give the home team their support. The club has spent considerable money in improvements in the new grounds and now have both the infield and outfield in good condition. Good teams will be booked for games here during the coming season when the public helps to make the expense burden of the young amateur atheletes light as the average expenditures to bring a visiting team to town and buying baseballs is never less than $5.50, and it is earnestly desired that the fans be generous when asked for a donation to make both ends meet for the teams.

BODY IN GARBAGE CAN

Girl's Throat Had Been Cut and Remains Wrapped in Sheet

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 18—The body of 11 year old Elizabeth Nolte, her throat slashed, has been found wrapped in a sheet in a garbage can in the rear of her home. The girl had been missing since Tuesday. Her parents believed she had been kidnapped.

The scene of the murder is a thickly populated tenement district. No clew to the child's slayer has been discovered.

Detectives are working on the theory that the girl was not murdered in the areaway, but that her body was taken there after the crime had been committed at some other point.

A man who was to be tried in police court on a charge of improper conduct, against whom the girl was the principal witness, is held by the police. He said he had not seen the child for three weeks. Search is being made for a negro who had given candy to the girl on the day she disappeared.

SHOWER BEER ON GOVERNOR.

Rowdies on Housetop Routed by Police And Two Captured, After Outrage.

Boston, June 18.—Beer was thrown at Governor Walsh, Mayor Curley, Brigadier General Charles H. Cole and Captain James D. Coady, the Governor's personal military aide, in the civic and military parade, yesterday, which marked the celebration of the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

When the open barouche containing the party, the most distinguished in the long parade, reached Bunker Hill and Cottage streets, a half dozen young men who were on the flat roof of the three-apartment house at the corner hurled glasses filled with beer and handfuls of gravel at the party. Instinctively the Governor and his party threw up their arms to shield their faces from the surprise attack.

Policemen, who were in the parade and also guarding the line of march, immediately charged the roof. The rowdies fled, nad all but two escaped, after a chase over adjoining roofs. The Governor was not hurt, but was very indignant over the affair.

AUSTRO-GERMANS CROSS DNIESTER

Germans Said to Have Flanked Czar's Positions in Galicia

BATTLE STILL RAGES

Petrograd Claims Linsingen's Advance on Stryj Has Been Hurled Back With Heavy Losses.

Petrograd, June 18—Austro-German losses on a forty-mile sector of talled between 120,000 and 150,000 in the past month, said a political review of the fighting issued by the war office today.

London, June 18—Austro-German troops have crossed the Dneister, fifteen miles northeast of Stanislau.

The Russian war office made this official admission today, but announced that Russian forces east of Stryj threw back the enemy, capturing 202 officers and 8,544 men.

The war office is silent about the progress of the new Austro-German drive on Lemberg from the west. The official statement merely said that the fighting in West Galicia continues.

There is fighting along the entire 700 mile of the eastern battle line. The Austro-German forces are estimated at 3,550,000. There are reports of spirited action at Augustowo, Kalvaria, Grodno, around Ossowiec, along the Omulew and Narew line, north of Przasnysz, south of the Vistula, on the Bzura river and in Galicia.

Here the heaviest fighting of all is to be found in the general advance from three directions toward Lemberg.

Berlin, June 18—A decisive battle from which important results are expected is now in progress all along the Russian front. German forces along the Rawka River in Central Russian Poland, west of Warsaw have now taken the offensive. The German battle line, in Poland, Galicia and Bukowina is 1100 kilometres (682 miles) long. German and Austrian forces are attacking the enemy in a desisive battle, and big results are expected.

The Russians have abandoned their positions to the north of Sieniawa, on the San River in Galicia, and have retreated toward Tarnogrod, in Russian Poland, according to official statement by the German army headquarters staff.

Petrograd, June 18—Occupation by the Germans of additional villages in the Shavli district and further south in the region east of Mariampol is admitted by the Russians. It is claimed, however, that the invaders suffered severely in futile attacks beyond the iemen and that ground lost north of Przasnysz has been regained. The great battle along the San in West Galicia is reported to be continuing fiercely with fresh Austro-German forces constantly entering the combat. The statement follows:

"German attacks for the past three days around the village of Litzkoff, near the Windau River, have been unsuccessful, and the fighting Tuesday ended in our favor. In the region of Popelairy our troops crossed the Venta. In pursuing the enemy our cavalry sabred hundreds of Germans and made some dozen of prisoners The fighting near Shavli continues with various fortunes. Some villages fell into the enemy's hands. There have been artillery duels on the Dubysa.

"On the western front beyond the mid-Niemen the enemy has sustained heavy losses in the past two days in fruitless oflensive attempts.

"In counter-attacks in the region east of Mariampol some villages were occupied by the enemy, and Tuesday night the enemy, began a bombardment of Ossowetz, but about 3 o'clck o'clock in the morning the fortress got the upper hand.

"Along the Narew-Omulew Valley rort there have been unimportant encounters."

PROUD OF PRETTY SINGER

Miss Estelle Wentworth, of This City, is Prima Donna.

Gardner Mack, writing in the Washington Times, says:

"There is a tendency on the part of the people of a city like Washington to cooly pin on its own fair reputation a streamer of fame that belongs to another community, the while giving the title of the really famous place to the writers of topical songs and vaudeville jokesmiths so that they can poke fun at it. Every city that plays No. 1 musical comedy organizations and big time vaudeville has some nearby village upon which it permits comedians to vent their spleen.

"For many years Alexandria, Va., has been the particular locality about whch Washingtonians delight to joke. Overlooking the fact that Alexandria was the principal seaport of the Atlantic coast when the Dutch were still haggling with the Indians over the title to Manhattan Island, and that its output of manufactures far exceeded that of District of Columbia for many years—there are some things which Washington claims as its own and takes much pride in, that really and truly belong to Alexandria.

"For instance, there is Estelle Wentworth, operatic prima donna, who has come back to America after gaining much renown in Europe, and who is appearing here for a short season with the Aborn company. There is a tradition, dating from the time Miss Wentworth first came into fame as a singer—which hasn't been so long ago, as a matter of fact—that she was a daughter of the District, and local pride was considerably inflated thereby because Miss Wentworth is the sort of a singer that any locality could be proud of without the slightest exaggeration of its sense of pride. Miss Wentworth, however, is not a daughter of the District. Her family comes from Alexandria, and most of it still lives there!

Miss Wentworth, by the way, is one some degree of optimism on the war some degree ufo ptimism on the war situation. It requires considerably more optimism for her use on this occasion than would be required for almost any other American singer At the present time in the town of Frieberg, Germany, there is stored away practically every earthly possession of Miss Wentworth. Likewise, there is a perfectly good contract to sing at the Charlottenburg Opera House, Berlin, for last season, which she was unable to keep because of the war. Also there was a career as a prima donna for thep ast five years in Erieberg and other cities, which has been more or less permanently damaged by reason of the war. Therefore, it requires more or less ironbound, 99 per cent pure optimism, for Miss Wentworth to contemplate the war than most persons. But she has it.

"I believe the war is to be a great thing for American singers and musicians generally," she told me one day between rehearsals at the National. "This is especially true since Italy has joined the allies. There will be fewer singers here from Europe. And if we are to have any opera at all next year, Americans must provide it themselves."

During a band concert last night in Washington circle, where several thousand people had gathered to enjoy the music, Frank Branch, colored, 14 years old, in an altercation with another colored boy, 16 years old, was stabbed in the left chest with a small pocketknife. Branch soon died. His assailant escaped.

BANKERS CAN TRUST WILSON

Have Unshaken Faith in his Ability to Guide Ship of State

JUST TRIBUTE TO HIM

State Association Gather at Old Point For The Purpose of Holding Their Anual Convention.

Richmond, June 18—The nomination committee of the Virginia bankers' association in session at Old Point today reported as follows:

President, E. Tiffany, Warrenton.
Vice president, E. B. Spencer, Roanoke.
Treasurer, Col. William Hill Richmond.
Secretary, Walker Scott, Farmville.
Members Executive Committee: J. B. Neil, Berryville.
T. E. King, Marion.
T. Roby, Fairfax.
C. Taylor Burke, Alexandria.
Garland De Vaughn, Lynchburg.
B. B. Jones, Petersburg.
R. S. Marshall, Portsmouth.
James I. Pritchett, Danville.
Carroll Pierce, Alexandria.

Old Point Comfort, Va., June 18—The grave crisis through which this country is now passing and the disaster that might be visited upon business in general, and banking in particular, by unwise or precipitous action in Washington, was given serious emphasis yesterday in the annual address of President W. B. West to the Virginia Bankers' Association, assembled here in twenty-second annual convention.

"Little did we think when we met last year on this delightful spot," said President West, "that before we met again practically the whole world would be at war, and we ourselves trembling on the brink."

"The situation today," said the speaker, "is disquieting. o one knows the limits that may be reached or may foretell its results." Mr. West recalled the chaotic conditions that followed declaration of war last August, and the masterful manner in which the whole business and banking world in this country met the situation.

"Today the situation is uncertain" continued the speaker. "It is a time for calm and serious contemplation. But we have a man at the head of this government whose patriotism is above question, who has put behind him all personal considerations, and is painstakingly and conscicntiously trying to solve aright the problems confronting the nation, and daily we have evidence of his leadership, his far-sightedness and genius for government. We can trust him not to humiliate this nation, or needlessly to embroil us in the cataclysm now going on in Europe."

The reference to President Wilson threw the convention into an uproar and the applause was long and generous. It was clear that the bankers of Virginia were possessed of an unshaken faith in the ability of their own native son to steer the ship of state safely through even the present choppy international waters.

President West drew attention to financial emancination brought about by the establishment of the Federal reserve system last November. While the system, he thought, was fundamentally safe and sound and may be counted upon to eliminate the periodical recurrence of panics and provide an elastic auxiliary currency to meet increased seasonal demands, it might well be amended so as to increase its usefulness, particularly to State institutions.

Between 200 and 00 delegates and visitors were assembled in the ballroom of the Chamberlin Hotel when the convention opened. A considerably larger crowd was on hand for the afternoon session. After adjournment for the afternoon, there was a special concert by the Marine Band. In the evening there was a moonlight sail to the Virginia capes.

CASUALTIES FROM AIR RAIDS

Two Hundred and Twenty One Persons Killed in Forty-Eight Hours

London, June 18—Two hundred and twenty one persons, mainly noncombattants, have been killed and many more mortally hurt in air raids during the past forty-eight hours.

Dispatches from Amsterdam stated that 200 persons had been killed in the great air raid of the allies over Karlsruhe, capital of Baden, Germany on Tuesday. A telegram from Paris said that five persons were killed at Nancy by bombs from German areoplanes. The admiralty admits that sixteen persons were killed in the Zeppelin raid over the northeastern coast of England Tuesday night. The loss of life, if any, in German air raids over Belfort and St. Die is not known here.

Sky battles on a scale the world has never dreamed of will lend a new thrill to the European war spectacle before many days.

Within the last six months aeroplane factories here and in the United States have been turning out scores of biplanes designed to give England supremacy in the skies. Publication of this fact was not permitted until the formal announcement from the war office in the house of commons Wednesday

It is learned that the British air fleet now comprises 2,500 biplanes and monoplanes and about 50 dirigibles, equipped for bomb-hurling raids.

To challenge Great Britain's superiority in the skies German aeroplane and dirigible factories have been working overtime since last September.

Geneva, June 18—News dispatches reaching Geneva from Friedrichshafen set forth that double shifts are now working in the Zeppelin factories which are turning out a completed Zeppelin airship every twenty days.

SAVES YOUTH FROM MOB

Maryland Sheriff Arrests Two Young Men Charged With Assaulting Girl.

Salisbury, Md., June 18—Deputy Sheriff Denson made a quick run in his automobile yesterday to the home of James Phillips, near Whiton, to save from possible mob violence two young men who were accused by Miss Phillips of assaulting her. He arrested William Jefferson, of Delmar and Norman Marvel, of Hebron, about 18 and 20 years old, respectively, and brought them to jail in this plase.

The officer and his prisoners were followed to Sailsbury by a number of enraged farmers. He reported the neighborhood greatly wrought up over the assault and said he feared an attempt at lynching.

Jefferson and Marvel, it is alleged went to the Phillips' home Wednesday while all the family except the young girl, were in the strawberry field and induced her to take a drive with them in their buggy. They are said to have taken her to a woods several miles away and detained her for some time.

On returning form the field and finding the girl missing, the Phillips family instituted a search and found Miss Phillips in a bewildered condition. The girl is said to be feebleminded and was unable to give a clear account of the alleged assault.

When her story became known a crowd of neighbors gathered and threats against the youth were made. Some of the cool-headed ones, fearing a lynching telephoned to Salisbury for the sheriff.

Great Battle Now Reported To Be Developing on French Front

FRENCH MAKE CLAIMS

Terrible Hand-to-Hand Fighting With Bayonets and Grenades Under Violent Artillery Fire.

Paris, June 18—The official communication issued by the War office describes intense activity along the French front, the allied forces delivering powerful attacks and the Germans counter-attacking furiously. To the north of Arras the French have carried several lines of German trenches and two hills, and are making marked progress toward Souchez. Heavy losses on both sides are reported. The text follows:

"There has been great activity on the front during the last two days. The fighting to the north of Arras since yesterday has taken on a character of extreme intensity. The infantry actions have been numerous and desperate; the duel of artillery violent and continuous.

"We have realized important progress, almost all of which has been maintained, notwithstanding the furious counter attacks of the enemy, some of which were markedly accentuated today.

"It is especially in the north part of the section that we have progressed, carrying several lines of trenches on both sides of the road from Aix Houlette to Souchez. The Germans are still holding on in the Fond de Buval, but they are almost completely surrounded."

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Young Bride Shot to Death in Her Brooklyn Home.

New York, June 18—Mrs. Barbara Cornelius, the beautiful young bride of Carman Cornelius,a produce market employe, and George McAghen, of Jersey City, were found shot to death in the bed room of her Brooklyn home early yesterday. The police were informed of the tragedy by the woman's husband, who said that McAghon climbed into their bedroom window during the night and fired a shot at him, and that while he was trying to arouse neighbors McAghon killed Mrs. Cornelius and then committed suicide.

Cornelius declares he never saw the man before and never heard of any former sweetheart of his wife.

Cornelius said that Barbara Seilem (the maiden name of the slain woman) was his second wife. His first wife he said, divorced him in the fall of 1912, naming Barbara as correspondent. He did not contest the case and was married to Barbara in Jersey City as soon as the decree was made final. She was twenty- five years old.

CHARGES AGAINST CUNARD COMPANY.

The inquiry into the sinking of the steamship Lusitania by a German submarine was ended in London yesterday afternoon. Another session will be held to take further evidence as to whether Captain Turner observedly fully the Admiralty's warnings.

Attorneys connected with the case say it is obvious that if a zigzagging course was an element of safety, as an Admiralty expert testified the captain and owners of the steamer "showed grave culpability."

It is said the crew were mainly interested in saving themselves, giving a general appearance of lack of discipline.

Restricting the number of boilers in use adds to the responsibility of the captain and company. The latter admitted that some collapsible boats were strapped on the tops of others at the time of the disaster to the steamer.

The evidence showed that the orders of Captain Turner to get the women and children into the boats had been countermanded. A number of witnesses testified that they got into the boats and had to leave them later on orders it being alleged that the ship was safe.

The proceedings of this inquiry will be read with interest by the many persons who in by-gone years have been passengers on Cunard steamers. It was supposed that this line was operated upon the "safety first" principle since its organization about 1840. A wave boarded the Lucania some time ago and swept several steerage passengers overboard, but up to that time no fatalities had occurred on any steamer of this line. The Oregon was sunk by collision in some unaccountable manner off Fire Island in 1885, but no lives were lost.

Discipline was supposed to be perfect on a Cunarder, and many anecdotes have been told of the strict obedience by every man on a steamer of the company it being alleged that it was impossible to induce a man to perform the slightest duty incumbent upon some other employee of the company. A sailor who was on watch one night when a fire started on one of the ships refused to leave his post to extinguish the flames, but told a frigntened passenger that the proper man would be along presentluy and subdue the fire.

People who have crossed the Atlantic on a steamer of this company have had their attention directed to the pantomimic manner in which the members of the crew perform their duties. Everything seems to be carried on by signs or gestures; there are no fierce and loud orders but everything is conducted as in a school of mutes.

But the inquiry shows there was a lack of discipline on the ill-fated Lusitania, that the company was economizing in the use of coal and that the safety principle was not adhered to.

All this shows that those who go down to the sea in ships are still besets by dangers, no matter which line is patronized, and it is calculated to cause transatlantic passengers to lose faith in a line which has heretofore enjoyed such a reputation for vigilance and safety to those who place themselves under its care.

THE CASE OF LEO M. FRANK.

The fate of Leo M. Frank, convicted of murdering Mary Phagan in a pencil factory in Atlanta, is now in the hands of the Governor of Georgia That official will, it is expected, decide today whether Frank is to be hanged next week or spend the remainder of his life in the penitentiary.

The Frank case became one of national intereset almost as soon as an Atlanta jury declared him responsible for the death of the young girl, and the country has from the first been divided, some believing the condemned man is a victim of the miscarriage of justice, while others are equally convinced that the accused is guilty as charged. The fact that a negro, who has previously shown his irresponsibility, was used as the material witness against Frank has thrown considerable weight on the side of the defense, although the prosecuting attorney before the governor a few days ago alleged that there was an abundance of evidence and circumstances apart from the negro's testimony to show that Frank had committed the murder.

We do not carry X rays and are no more capable than others of summing up this case, but one thing has often appeared suggestive, and that is the fact that a jury of southern men should bring in a verdict of guilty against a white man when a negro was his principal accuser. The Georgians must have had positive convictions that Frank was guilty, and not Conley, as some prefer to believe.

THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO.

One hundred years ago today the star of Napoleon Bonaparte set, never to rise again. It had taken nearly fifteen years to bring his career to a close. During the time fortune followed his arms he had humiliated Prussia, Austria, and Russia and smaller nations and caused England to spend many millions to escape the overwhelming tide of the Corsican. He had carried his arms into the city of Berlin, had forced the sepulchre of Frederick the great and mused at the sarcophagus of that illustrious statesman and warrior. He had shown his superiority over three of the greatest nations—Prussia, Austria and Russia—the sun of Austerilitz having smiled upon his eagles. But the day god of the eighteenth day of June, 1815, was destined to set upon Napoleon defeated, and while the shadows were lengthening on that eventful day the cry went up, "The Old Guard has broken!" Surrounded by enemies on every side and his own army scattered and in stampede, the former Emperor retraced his steps to France ready to meet the disappointed and exasperated nation.

The last acts in the eventful career of Napoleon can be told in a few words. He burst in on Caulaincourt alone in the Tuileries on the night of June 20, and his agitation was so great that he could not speak. At last he exclaimed "All is lost! I have no longer an army or a single musket. Nothing but a dictatorship can save the country. My only resources are the people. I hope the Deputies will stand by me."

But they did not. The words of Lafayette told the sad story. "Three millions of Frenchmen have perished for one man, who still wishes to fight the combined powers of Europe. We have done enough for Napoleon; let us now try to save France."

The shade of the great Corsican may be looking down now upon terrestrial events in the land where he received his quietus. Is Providence to reproduce the story of Napoleon in one now posing as a defier of the world? We will wait and see.

BIRTHPLACE OF HOMER.

The dispute over the birthplace o Homer, started over two thousand years ago, is still undecided. At that time

Chios, where a torpedo boat was destroyed, is the most probable birthplace of the ancient bard, and shows the blind poet's cradle, school, house and tomb. Near the poet's alleged school is a little wine shop bearing across the front the coaxing saying of Hecuba to Hector: "Wine doth vastly increase the strength of a weary man."

The people of Chios are the most prosperous in the Levant.

John H. Shutz, 55 years old, a farmer of Manchester township, Pa., was found dead yesterday in a field near his barn. The Richmond Journal says State officials are greatly pleased that the old debt case has been forever settled, the action of the Supreme Court having forever stopped any further litigation so far as the State of Virginia is concerned. Prior to the institution of the suit by Virginia, an agreement was entered into by the State Debt Commission and the committee of bondholders whereby the State is relievd of any liability to the holders of the bonds, or to their heirs or assigns, when the suit should have been instituted and a final decree entered. This has now been done. The bandholders will have to take whatever further action may be necessary. The naming of a receiver will end the litigation so far as Virginia is concerned.

C. AND O. TO PASS DIVIDEND.

Directors Report Decrease in Receipts From Certain Sources.

New York, June 18.—Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company voted yesterday to pass the dividend. The stock has recently been on a 4 per cent basis.

"While the gross earnings are the largest in railroad's history," reads a statement issued by the directors, "there has been a marked change in the character and direction of the traffic carried, entailing a large decrease from hire of equipment and larger payments to other lines. The surplus for the year has also been unfavorably affected by decreased income from the Hocking Valley and Kanawha and Michigan stocks."

Directors of the Hocking Valley Railroad, in which the Chesapeake and Ohio has a large stock interest, declared a dividend yestreday of 1 per cent. The last dividend was 3 per cent. and was declared last December.

Governor Slaton Making Deliberate Study to Arguments in Frank Case.

Atlanta, Ga., June 18.—That Governor Slaton is giving the most deliberate study to every detail of the appeal of Leo M. Frank for commutation was revealed when the State's Chief Executive announced yesterday afternoon that there would be no decision in the case last night.

The Governor had spent the night at his country home on Peachtree road, poring over the trial evidence and other data presented by the State and the defense in the long argument, which ended Wednesday afternoon. He continued his study yesterday forenoon, quitting only to go to his office at the capitol at 11:30 o'clock to attend to some pressing official business.

It was considered probable that the Governor might reach his decision today.

THOSE WAR BABIES

No Exceptional Increase in Illegitimacy, Report of the Commission

London, June 18—"No evidence available justifies the belief that the conditions of war have resulted in any exceptional increase in illegitimacy," is the conclusion reached by a committee of which the Archbishop of York is the chairman, which has been investigating the "war babies" question.

The report says that special inquiries in 62 towns and districts brought no confirmation of the alarmist rumors that have been in circulation concerning illegitimacy and that therefore it has been considered unnecessary to organize special agencies to deal with the problem.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, evidently is of the opinion that there are more "war babies" than the Archbishop of York believes. At a "war service" meeting of the Woman's Social and Political Union yesterday, Mrs. Pankhurst announced that the organization had undertaken to look ofter "war babies" and establish a home for them, and "by the adoption of these children take the moral responsibility of caring for them as long as we can."

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man" writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. "The same soil was there all the while"

"Prairie sections which once went begging for buyers at a dollar an acre are now bearing enough cotton and cane and truck and fruit to raise their value a hundred fold. It was always worth a hundred times as much as its selling price but not to the owner who couldn't find it out." HERBERT KAUFMAN
